DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be necatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-11, 15-26, 30, 31, 34-41, and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chow et al (US 7,267,650 B2) in view of Haldeman (US 6,704,590 B2). Chow et al disclose a method for locating the coronary sinus using a steerable catheter (Col 4 Line 8-45), contrast media (Col 4 Line 55-62), observation means (Col 4 Line 32-Col 6 Line 35), guide lumen (Col 4 Line 27-Col 6 Line 35), guideiwre for imaging and guidance (Col 4 Line 15-45), pull wires for manipulation of the device and multiple lumens for allowing access to the guidewire and imaging system to place the catheter for treatment (Col 1 Line 14-32, and Col 4 Line 45-Col 5 Line 65).

Application/Control Number: 10/655,980

Art Unit: 3737

Chow et al do not describe methods of treatment of areas upstream from the device, other than to say that their methods are incorporated into procedures where such methods are performed (Col 1 Line 14-40). Attention is then directed to the secondary reference to Haldeman. Haldeman discloses a method of coronary sinus location using downstream flow as a marker for catheter guidance and integrated surgical operations in the cardiovascular system. Haldeman includes a flexible tipped catheter (Col 4 Line 53-65), means for detecting the specific laminar flow away from the coronary sinus (Col 3 Line 20-Col 5 Line 65), payloads including contrast media, pacing leads, and drugs (Col 4 Line 20-40, and Col 5 Line 20-40), and also discloses flexible catheter and guidewires for the steering and operations of the catheter in vivo (Col 4 Line 20-Col 5 Line 45). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have incorporated the treatment payloads of Haldeman for delivery of therapy with the methods of Chow et al for the purpose of facilitating navigation and treatment of the coronary sinus or associated vasculature.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-11, 15-26, 30, 31, 34-41 and 44 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
